How Do I Achieve the Retirement I Want?

What's the most common question financial advisers get asked? Yep – you guessed it: how much do I need to retire? In this month's blog, Astrid takes this topic apart, exploring the factors that every individual needs to take into account, how most people get their budgeting wrong.

Financial News Update

In welcome news, the age pension rate has recently seen the largest increase in fortnightly payments for many years, with high inflation the driver. From September 20, the new rates will increase by:

$38.90 per fortnight for singles $58.80 per fortnight for couples

This boost of almost 4% will bring the maximum rate of the pension to $1026.50 for singles and $1547.60 for couples.

There are also proposed new income test thresholds for the Senior Health Card you should be aware of. These changes are also likely to be implemented on 20 September.

Workaversarie Angela!

Work anniversaries (workaversaries) are always an exciting event for the team to celebrate, but particularly so when it marks a decade. Happy 10 years with the Pride Advice family, Angela! And a big thank you – we're grateful for your contribution and privileged to call you a colleague and friend. We look forward to many more years working together!
